1. [REDACTED] partisan activity increased in the area of Kłodzko (Glatz - P51/H34) and the Waldenburg mountains. A Polish resident estimated the strength of the partisans operating in these areas at 5,000 to 8,000 men. They are organized in the Armja Krajowa (Insurgent Army in Poland - AK) and the Narodowe Siły Zbrojne (National Forces in Poland - NSZ). Their activity is directed primarily against coal trains bound for the USSR and against local offices of the political police. In addition, they continually attempt to liberate prisoners from Polish jails and detention camps. A freight train of approximately 40 cars of coal destined for the USSR was derailed in August 1950.
2. Partisan units operating in the Kielce-Radom area total approximately 10,000 members. They operate against troop trains and freight trains bound for the USSR, as well as against police and UB offices in Poland.
